Flour And Wheat

Moderate Trade Buyers Careful Shipments Come In

THE trade in imported flour and wheat is once again of moderate proportions. A certain amount of interest is being displayed, but the total volume of new orders going to the States for flour or wheat is rather small, compared with the brisk buying of previous months. It is difficult to explain this, except if we can conclude that in the case of wheat the Shanghai flour mills, being ensured of supplies for at least up to January next and even up till February, consider it best not to rush further buying. They calculate that the American market must experience sooner or later some price recessions, and in such circumstances could further replenish their stocks of American wheat.

There is a big gap in prices of American flour and wheat and what the buyers from this side are offering. American wheat is quoted at G$42.50 per short ton c.i.f. Shanghai, which in terms of local currency works out at Tls. 4.15 per picul c.i.f. Shanghai. The Shanghai flour mills are counter-offering only G$40.00 per ton c.i.f. Shanghai, and naturally enough, the farmers on the Pacific Coast are turning down these offers from Shanghai. Probably exchange might take a course which would facilitate importation, or the buyers might be induced to revise their prices.

SHIPMENTS ARRIVE

The enormous quantity of Pacific wheat that was contracted previously from the northwest coast of America is beginning to dribble in, some 6,000 tons coming into Shanghai last week. Prior to this a consignment of some 1,000 tons was received, so that in the coming weeks the flow of arrivals from America should be increasing. In all, it will be remembered the Shanghai mills contracted with America for 160,000 tons of wheat to be delivered here in October to December and January. This cargo was at prices ranging from G$41.50 to G$43 per short ton c.i.f. Shanghai. It would be seen that a slightly lower rate is being now offered by the mills in Shanghai.

No further orders for Australian wheat are being booked. Some £50,000 worth of this wheat was contracted at the beginning of last month, and since then the local mills have been lying low expecting the price in Melbourne to go down. The quotation for Australian wheat is £10.15 per ton, c.i.f. Shanghai. In Canadian wheat practically the same lack of interest prevails. It would seem that there is a big trade waiting a decline in prices. Inquiries for flour from the Kwanto district and the west coast of Japan are being placed in large numbers in Kobe, but deranged traffic and tight money stand in the way of business. Lily brand of flour is quoted at Kobe today at yen 3.30 per sack. A further decline is looked for shortly.

CHINESE WHEAT

Arrivals of Chinese wheat from the producing centres are quite up to a good standard, averaging some 80,000 piculs per week. The local mills have been making large purchases at around Tls. 3.75 and Tls. 3.80 per picul. So long as supplies of Chinese wheat are fair the Shanghai flour mills will be encouraged in their waiting attitude as regards imported grain. It is these good arrivals from the interior that are exerting an appreciable effect against the import of foreign wheat.

More and more American flour is being received here. Last month some 20,000 sacks were delivered here and it is estimated that four times this quantity will reach Shanghai this month. American-milled flour at G$1.25 per sack is considered by the merchants as too high. Buyers' ideas are up to Tls. 1.90 per sack or G$1.25 per sack of 50 pounds. No fresh business is reported. The Shanghai mills are busy milling and at present prices are earning fair profits. There is a good movement of Chinese flour to points in China and while stocks at the mills are standing fairly high there is no fear of these stagnating owing to the brisk demand from the interior consuming points.

The yield of wheat in the northern sections of the Tientsin district is proving very good, while that in the southern sections is about half of normal. Most of the wheat is taken by the local flour mills, a great number of which have just been recently erected. The grain as it arrives at the mills is very dirty and has to be thoroughly cleaned and winnowed. This is due largely to the fact that it is beaten out with flails on dirt threshing floors.

MANY CITIES IN GERMANY MENACED BY BREAD RIOTS

Populace Is Infuriated By Sudden Rise In Price

LEADERS SEIZED

Mobs Surround Town Hall, Plunder Bakeries

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Oct. 16.—A hundred Communist leaders have been arrested at Hildesheim and Alfeld, in the province of Hanover, for attempting to hold a congress of workmen's councils.

The sudden jump in the price of the loaf to 480 from 347 million marks has infuriated the populace. The police today dispersed crowds of bread demonstrators at various centers without difficulty, but hitherto they have not been able to deal with the organised bands of young men and women who dash into shops, seize bread and disappear before the arrival of police.

Police at Leipzig used their batons in dealing with crowds after a number of shops had been looted.

A demonstration of unemployed in front of the Town Hall today came into collision with the police. Three demonstrators were wounded by revolver shots. Demonstrations elsewhere in the city were suppressed without bloodshed.

The situation at the center of the capital at noon was very menacing. Excited crowds of thousands, including women packed the streets surrounding the Town Hall. They plundered bakeries and held up motorcars near the Bourse and threatened to throw them into the Spree. The demonstrators refused to disperse and the police used their swords and bayonets and fired their revolvers. Finally a deputation waited on the burgomaster and demanded immediate relief of 10,000,000,000 marks and two loaves apiece and also coal and meals. The deputation left upon the burgomaster promising favorable consideration.

London, Oct. 17.—The Cologne correspondent of the Times reports that the Ruhr industrial leaders have decided to inform the French authorities that they see no possibility of raising money to meet the huge wages bill and will be compelled to close down mines and works.

The correspondent principally attributes this to the reported decision of the German Government that it is unable to pay for reparations deliveries or to continue the Ruhr credits.

Floods Sweep Oklahoma City; Feud Forgotten

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Oklahoma City, Oct. 17.—Oklahoma City today was swept by a devastating flood.

Fifteen thousand persons fled from their homes before the onrush of the wild waters. Seventeen blocks in the city proper were inundated. The damage is reported greatest in the country district.

Although there will evidently be great property losses as a result of the catastrophe, so far no loss of life has been reported.

The political war which has been raging here within recent weeks as a result of the fight which Governor Walton is making to drive the Ku Klux Klan out of Oklahoma, has been temporarily forgotten, and everyone is occupied with provisions for aiding the homeless.

Many narrow escapes were reported.

CAPTAIN SMITH HELD FOR TRIAL FOR ASSAULT

Struck Three Seamen With Bottle In Fracas At Dairen

Captain Arthur W. Smith, master of the s.s. Patrick Henry, was held for trial before Judge Charles S. Lobingier in the U. S. Court for China on charges of assault with a deadly weapon at a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Nelson Lurton yesterday afternoon. Commissioner Lurton over the objection of Major C. P. Holcomb, Smith's counsel, held that U. S. District Attorney Leonard G. Husar had made out a prima facie case against him.

The Shipping Board vessel is scheduled to sail this afternoon and as there is an extremely important legal point as to whether or not the U. S. Court for China has jurisdiction for an act committed in territory leased to the Japanese Captain Smith will be allowed to continue on the ship under G.$500 bail pending the hearing of the case by the higher court.

At yesterday's hearing Robert F. Watson, Patrick Devaney, Paul C. Naill, Joseph Rooney, and Frank Flannigan—all members of the crew, testified that while they were in a Russian cabaret in Darien, Manchuria, on October 6 the Captain went on a rampage with a bottle, attacked and struck three of them, one so seriously he was unconscious two hours.

All testified that Captain Smith had attacked the men without provocation and had started the entire fracas by striking Naill when he was lying asleep in a bedroom and turned on the others when they came on the scene.

THE DEFENSE

Captain Smith denied the charge on the ground that he struck in self defense. He had wished to avoid being seen by members of his crew, he said, so when he saw two of them in a hallway he stepped into a partially open door. Inside, he continued, he found it was a bedroom and a man on the bed called him a vile name and ordered him out of the room. He walked over to the bed and the man repeated the name and then sprang out of bed and struck him. He struck back, he said, when suddenly two others came running toward him menacingly. Then, he said, he picked up the bottle and went after them, striking three with the bottle and also striking two Japanese who entered the fight.

He met another man in the hallway outside, he said, and also struck him when it appeared he meant trouble. During the entire affair, he said, he had struck only when first struck, and had struck in self defense.

Nels Johnson, second engineer on the vessel, testified that he had been right behind the Captain when he walked in the room, and corroborated Captain Smith's evidence. Captain Smith had not struck before he was struck, he said.

George Hydehouse, chief engineer of the ship, testified that he saw Devaney, one of the seamen, strike Captain Smith first, and had then held Devaney. Ivan Williams, the second officer, also corroborated parts of Captain Smith's testimony.

TROUBLES PAST

Greatest Difficulties Surmounted, His Belief

(Exclusive China Press)

Washington, Oct. 16.—Secretary of War Weeks today sent a cable to Governor-General Leonard Wood of the Philippines assuring him that the government was squarely back of him in his administration of the islands and expressing the belief that General Wood's greatest difficulties were past.

(Exclusive China Press)

New York, Oct. 16.—Resident Commissioner for the Philippines Pedro Guevera, speaking here today before the Philippines-American Chamber of Commerce, declared that there would be no peace in the islands until a Filipino Governor-General had been substituted for an American.

Under present conditions, he charged, an American Governor-General can act despotically even without the sanction of the government of the United States.

Commissioner Guevera said that it was the general consensus of opinion among Filipinos that if a Filipino were to be appointed at the head of the government with full power and authority peace and prosperity would again come to the islands. The Filipinos were most anxious, he said, to liberalise the land laws, make investments of foreign money safe and profitable, and extend the education system started by the United States.

Technical Research Is Debated By Conference

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 16.—Sir Philip Lloyd Greame today presided over the Economic Conference, which discussed the question of co-operation for technical research, and also the matter of developing research and making it mutually available between the Mother Country and the Dominions.

The discussion on the future of the Imperial Institute concluded with the decision to submit the whole question to a committee for investigation and report.

The afternoon session of the Conference heard a statement by the Postmaster-General dealing with the unsatisfactory situation of Imperial mail, cable and wireless communications. The Conference passed the following three resolutions:—

(1) That representatives of the Dominions and India should be associated with the Imperial Communications Committee, which has up to the present been British.

(2) That all support should be given to a State-owned Pacific cable.

(3) That preference should be accorded to British companies in connection with Empire wireless concessions.

Sir L. Worthington Evans announced that the Government had turned down the proposal to revert to an Italian port of transhipment for Eastern mails on the ground that it was doubtful whether the step would result in acceleration. Alternatively, any acceleration was insufficient to compensate for the very heavy additional cost. He paid a tribute to the Eastern Telegraph Company's cable services, whereby pre-war efficiency had now been restored and all important destinations in India and Australia could be reached in a average of three or four hours.

Only A Nightmare, But It Might Come True Yet

By Irene Corbally Kuhn

Shanghai

Dear Leinani:

These letters seem to be resolving themselves into a series of bedtime stories. I think the bad bed-man or the bed bad-man who wished the skyscraper beds on us gave us a real, old-fashioned Chinese devil curse for cumsha when I wished them back on him to be reduced, so that we could get into them without taking the elevator.

The first night I slept on my corrected edition of the misnomered "rest-easy." I did'nt. Nightmare after nightmare distorted my usual restful sleep into a miserable enervating succession of cold sweats and left me, when the pallid dawn sneaked through the windows, as limp as the two sheets between which I hid.

Nightmare No. 1 had to do with dwelling in marble halls of the modest dimensions of an old Roman ampitheater, and trying to keep the place warm, when the marble radiators refused to work, with one small charcoal stove and a couple of toothpicks for fuel.

THE REAL DARB

Nightmare No. 2 was the real darb. In it we had finally moved out of the marble halls and were waiting for our Chinese-made furniture to be moved into a smaller, more comfortable, place.

About a hundred coolies were gathered below and they began bringing up things we had never ordered, one more horrifying and scalp-raising than another. There was, for instance, the fireside davenport which we had counted on to be right if everything else was wrong. It was as artistic and comfortable as a park bench, with a six inch high back and a four inch wide seat. It was beautifully upholstered in fresh, green paint, as wet as the ocean on a rainy day.

There were some alleged chairs. I remembered I had said I wanted "wing chairs," taking it for granted, which is a fatal mistake in China, that the furniture man knew what I meant—big, comfortable over-stuffed chairs which make sitting on the end of one's spine a real pleasure. These monstrosities were small, dainty and demure, with cherubic gauze wings mounted on their backs. There was a table, too. It had legs of four different lengths and drawers that were built out at unexpected angles like protruding bay windows on a brownstone house.

EVERYTHING THERE

"Take them away, take them away, I didn't order these. Where is my stuff?" I cried.

"Stoves?" the number one coolie inquired politely. "She come topside now."

The stove which I don't remember having asked for, was an enormous pot-bellied thing, made entirely of filet

WOMEN BANDIT CAPTIVES STILL BEING DETAINED

Release Of Two Missionaries Has Not Yet Been Effected

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 17.—In spite of semi-official statements and the message from General Chang Fulai, Miss Darroch and Miss Sharp apparently have not yet been released.

A message from Kaifengfu today reports that the military are finding it difficult to operate on the Lushan Mountains but the bandits have renewed their offer to release the captives conditional on the band being received into the Army. The authorities are reluctant to concede to this and demand the release of the captives before considering the request. Negotiations are proceeding.

AMERICAN CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE URGE U.S. TO SEND MORE TROOPS HERE

Increase Of Military And Naval Strength In China Is Urged In Resolutions Adopted By Associated Bodies At Convention Here

Recommendations strongly urging the increase of American military and naval strength in China better to protect American lives and property, dealing with proposed changes in respect to the United States Court, with the extraterritoriality problem, the American Diplomatic Service and many other highly important issues were made yesterday at the closing session of the second annual conference of Associated American Chambers of Commerce.

The conference this year was voted by the delegates to have been a singularly successful one, not only in point of the important matters taken up but also with regard to the enthusiastic spirit of co-operation and interest evidenced by the delegates.

All of the China American Chambers with the exception of the Harbin body were represented and there was present in addition a representative of the Manila Chamber who brought two matters of moment before the assembly—the American income tax as applicable abroad and the proposal of forming a Far Eastern association of Chambers—both of which received the approval of the China association.

The representatives attending the conference included Mr. Myron Simon, representing the Tientsin Chamber; Mr. R. A. Frost, Hankow; Mr. F. J. Deane, Peking, and Messrs. J. Harold Dollar, H. A. Wiley, H. B. Lane, J. B. Powell, N. H. Kennedy and F. F. Fairman, of the Shanghai body. Mr. A. G. Henderson was the delegate from the Manila Chamber.

DELEGATES DINE

Last night the conference delegates, the committee of the Shanghai American Chamber and the heads of about a dozen Missionary bodies here gathered for a dinner at the Palace Hotel. The dinner was the occasion of a discussion of a unified policy whereby missionaries and business men may work together for the best interests of Americans and other foreigners in China.

The disorder which has prevailed in China since the last meeting of the Association came in for serious and protracted discussion by the delegates, who pointed out that instead of improving since the Lincheng bandit raid of last May and the consequent Note of the foreign powers, conditions have grown even more serious. The Association's findings in this connection are as follows:

DISORDER IN CHINA

In view of the long series of outrages in China culminating in the so-called Lincheng Incident on May 6, 1923 which constituted a menace to the lives and property of American citizens and other foreign nationals residing in the country, the Diplomatic Body consisting of official representatives of sixteen nations addressed a formal note of protest to the Chinese Government. This note demanded that the foreign passengers be reimbursed for property losses, for loss of time and injuries sustained and also demanded the punishment of Chinese officials responsible and the proper means be taken at once by the Chinese Government for the protection of travellers and transportation of merchandise on the Chinese Government railways.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Chinese Government in reply to this note stated among other things that,

"The safety of foreigners has always been the subject of very deep solicitude on the part of the Chinese Government," and said further, "That through the series of measures recently adopted the lives, property and interests of foreigners in China will enjoy added security."

OUTRAGES PERSIST

Since this reply of the Chinese Government was written there have been additional bandit and military outrages, one of which in Szechuen province resulted in the murder of two missionaries, and others in Honan and Hupeh provinces resulting in the murder of a Catholic priest, the kidnapping of two women missionaries and the destruction of considerable missionary property. In addition to these incidents there has been constant firing upon peaceful American cargo and passenger boats on the Upper Yangtsze, and in the case of a ship belonging to another foreign nation interested in this trade the vessel was raided by soldiers, several members of the crew killed and the chief officers carried into captivity and the cargo destroyed. Lists of these outrages affecting the lives and property interests of Americans and other foreigners and the Chinese people as well have been compiled by the American Associated Chambers of Commerce.

BLUNT EXCHANGE OF LETTERS ON OPIUM QUESTION

Portuguese Consul - General And Council Differ As To Recent Raid

The abortive opium and morphia raid of August 21 at 116-117 Yuenfong Road, when it was intimated that action of the Portuguese Consulate frustrated the efforts of the police to seize some $40,000 worth of drugs, is the subject of some blunt correspondence between the Portuguese Consul-General and the Municipal Council published in today's Municipal Gazette.

The Portuguese Consul-General who was absent from Shanghai at the time of the raid, takes primary exception to the stories printed in the local press, alleging these to have been inspired by the police. He denies that the Vice Consul, Mr. J. Botelho, was prevented from issuing a search warrant when it was first applied for "by curious instructions" given him by the Consul-General before the latter's departure for Macao. The delay, he states, was caused by the police refusing to sign an "indemnification bond" to indemnify the shopkeeper, a Portuguese registered Chinese, for any damages in the event that no drugs were found.

The Council in its reply describes in detail the delay experienced after the raid was started, resulting finally in withdrawal of the application for a warrant, and states that reliable reports received by the police were to the effect that eight boxes said to have contained opium, heroin and other contraband products were removed from the premises while the negotiations were going on. The Council also emphasises the point that no other Consular office requires the "indemnity bond" referred to in such circumstances, which constitutes an embargo on the issue of a warrant. It is asked that this stipulation be rescinded.

"It will be seen," the Council's letter states, "that the obstacles attending the acquisition of a warrant from the Portuguese Consulate resulted in a contrabandist, caught red-handed in a flagrant breach of the opium regulations, being suffered to remove his illicit hoard and escape the penal consequences of his offense."

in China and are on file at the American legation at Peking.

These outrages are a direct consequence of the condition of military anarchy which has developed in China since the country became a republic a dozen years ago which matter received the attention of the Washington Conference on February 1, 1922 when a resolution was adopted expressing the earnest hope that immediate and effective steps would be taken by China to reduce the military forces and expenditures. This resolution received the signature of the Chinese delegates as well as those of the delegates representing other nations at the Conference.

TROOPS INCREASED

In spite of the foregoing action of the Washington Conference and the continuous protests of foreign governments the recruiting of troops into the various Chinese armies has steadily continued until the number of soldiers under arms in the country at the present time, according to the China Year Book, amounts to 1,335,835 men, the largest standing army in the world.

The inability of the Chinese Government to keep this army paid and under control is the chief cause of the unsettled condition existing in the country. As the authority of the Central Government has broken down through conspiracy and civil war the army has broken up into provincial units under the control of the Military Governors or Tuchuns. Sections of the army unable to obtain pay constantly rebel and become bandits. The bandit gangs in turn terrorise the country, pillaging villages, burning property or menacing the lives of foreigners until they become strong enough to force their way back into the provincial army.

This situation of military anarchy which has developed in China constitutes a menace not only to the peace of the Far East but to the entire world. It is a matter of special and vital interest on the part of the United States on account of her well-known policies and trade relations in this part of the world, and especially because of her position of leadership in the calling and deliberations at the Washington Conference.

URGE STRONG STAND

The Associated American Chambers of Commerce of China has always been of the opinion that nothing short of a definite stand on the part of the powers would be sufficient to bring China's military dictators to a realization of the obligations of China as an independent and sovereign country among the nations of the world. Until such time as the nations which participated in the Washington Conference are prepared to adopt a definite policy in respect to China, it is vital that the United States take steps to secure to American citizens their just treaty rights in China. To this end we feel that at the present time the maximum of protection in China for our interests can only be obtained by increasing our naval and military forces to the strength we are entitled under treaty rights. This involves the bringing of our military and marine forces stationed in Peking and Tientsin under the Boxer protocol of 1901 up to their full strength and additions to the China section of the Pacific Fleet and Yangtsze Patrol Squadron.

FLEET INCREASE ASKED

Both the State and Navy Departments at Washington in correspondence with the American Legation at Peking dated August 9 and 21, 1923, have signified the necessity for immediately increasing our naval force on the Yangtsze River and other navigable streams of China. It is understood that the Navy Department has put in its estimates for the budget to be presented to the next session of Congress the request for the immediate construction of six river patrol boats of special construction for service on the upper Yangtsze. It has been recommended that these boats be built on the Asiatic Station in order to expedite their being put into service and for economy in the cost of production, the Associated Chambers of Commerce of China desires to go on record as being heartily in favor of these recommendations and urges that Congress give immediate and serious consideration to the proposal.

SEND REPORT HOME

In connection with the Association's recommendations regarding the increase of the Yangtsze Patrol force a pamphlet on this subject, enumerating the recent up-river attacks and emphasising the necessity of more American naval ships for protective purposes, was incorporated in the report. Copies of this pamphlet have been sent to Congressional representatives and chambers of commerce in the United States. The findings also comment upon the policy hitherto applied of changing the Yangtsze Patrol commander from time to time, expressing the view that this is undesirable. This same suggestion is made applicable with regard to other American officials in China.

U. S. POLICY IN CHINA

With regard to American policy toward China the opinion of the Association was that: "In spite of the hopes of the leading statesmen of the world as expressed in the treaties and resolutions of the Washington Conference in respect to China conditions in this country have deteriorated rather than improved and up to the present the leaders of China have shown an absolute disregard of the obligations of China as a sovereign power among the nations of the world. Owing to the failure unanimous ratification of the various treaties and resolutions adopted at the Washington Conference the United States has made no move toward bringing into effect the Washington Conference decisions. In view of the serious situation which has developed in China as a result of the continued serious internal disorder the practical effect has been to damage the prestige of the United States, which nation took the lead in the call and deliberations of the Washington Conference. Unless all the powers concerned ratify the Washington Conference treaties without further delay the Associated American Chambers of Commerce of China recommend that the United States Government take up with Great Britain and other interested nations the matter of a unified policy in respect to the protection of their nationals and the general improvement of conditions in this country America took the lead in calling the Washington Conference and directing its discussions. In consequence it is expected that this leadership on the part of the United States will be maintained, otherwise the prestige which accrued to America as a result of the Washington meeting is likely to be lost."

EXTRATERRITORIALITY

Hingeing upon the foregoing is the subject of extraterritorial abolition in China. In this connection the Association took cognisance of the fact that according to a Washington Conference resolution an international commission was to visit China within six months after the adjournment of the Conference to report upon the status of extraterritoriality and make recommendations for improvements. A year's postponement was requested by the Chinese Minister to the United States on May 8, 1922. In view of the fact that the postponement period has expired and that conditions have deteriorated rather than improved it was the opinion of the Chambers that any consideration of the revision of the present system should be further postponed until conditions have improved in sufficient measure to justify the question being taken up again.

U. S. COURT BILL

Pending legislation concerning the United States Court for China formed another important issue to come before the conference. This is a bill now in the hands of a legal committee and expected to come before Congress shortly. The bill embodies three important clauses. The first of these provides for placing the Court entirely under the supervision of the Department of Justice, instead of, as at present, partially, under the State Department. The second clause extends the powers of the United States Commissioner, making him, to a certain extent, an assistant judge, in that during the absence of the Judge he may make orders which the Judge might make in chambers, or might hear causes in which the Judge is disqualified or where the parties consent. The powers are the same as those extended to United States Commissioners in Alaska.

REFEREES PROPOSED

The third clause might be construed as providing for a modified form of jury trial. It would provide for the turning over by the Judge on motion or application, of questions of fact in any causes to one or more referees, who might sit with the Court or separately.

This bill received the approval of the Association.

Another bill which was given the endorsement of the delegates was the Rodgers Bill, providing for the combination of the American Consular and Diplomatic services into a service to be known as the Foreign service of the United States. The bill includes provisions for salary increases, travelling allowances, retirement and advancement of officials, etc.

THE INCOME TAX

Of great interest to Americans in the Far East, as well as in other foreign countries, is that part of the Conference business relating to the payment of income tax by Americans abroad. This matter was brought before the meeting by Mr. A. G. Henderson at the request of the Manila American Chamber of Commerce, which has been active in the matter. The Manila Chamber has drawn up strong recommendations opposing the enforcement of the income tax abroad and these recommendations were accompanied here by letter from Governor General Wood, of the Philippines, who strongly endorsed the sentiments of the Chamber. It is held that the imposition of the tax places Americans under a heavy handicap as compared with other foreign nationals and is a very short-sighted policy in other respects as well. The Manila Chamber's recommendations in this respect were endorsed.

Mr. Henderson also put forward the proposal of the Manila Chamber for the formation of a Far Eastern Chambers of Commerce association. A resolution favoring this proposal as passed.

RAILWAY POLICING

The matter of the policing of Chinese railways, which was on the agenda, was not acted upon owing to lack of information as to what recent steps have been taken in this connection by the Diplomatic Body at Peking.

Touching upon the Special Tariff Conference to be called in accordance with the Washington Conference treaties, a resolution was passed to the effect that when the proposed increases are made it be definitely provided that the defaulted obligations of the Chinese Government be provided for.

With regard to the illegal taxation being imposed upon various commodities by some of the provincial governments, it was held by the conference that these taxes, in the main, are being imposed by provinces which are in rebellion to the Central Government and the funds are being used for military purposes. This fact, it was held, is likely to prejudice the proceedings of the Special Tariff Conference for the purpose of increasing the Customs surtaxes.

CONSULAR OFFICES

The matter of securing more suitable Consular accommodations in China, which has had attention in previous years, was again brought up and strong recommendations were made in this respect, the resolution providing that information of conditions be sent to Congress, the Department of State, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and other bodies.

Exchange of news between the United States and China was discussed and the Chambers expressed approval of the policy of Secretary of State Hughes in upholding American rights in connection with the Federal Telegraph Company's contract, calling for a powerful radio station here and others in the interior, with the idea of bringing about direct communication with America for the exchange of news and commercial messages at reasonable rates.

Two More Armed Robberies Here

Two more armed robberies were reported to the police yesterday. Six men, four of them armed with revolvers, entered a house in Li Hong Ku Ka in Hongkew under the pretense of delivering a letter. Inside they demanded $5,000 and when they failed to get any money want up stairs and took $4 and a pair of gold bangles. No shots were fired and no arrests have been made.

Six other robbers, four of them also armed with pistols also entered a house in Meh Foong Li, off Robison Road outside the Settlement limits, frightened four women, and stole clothing and valuables worth $1,300.

Freaks Of Nature

THE CAVE INSECTS

There are numerous instances where insects have wandered into caves and have been unable to find their way out. Deprived of the fresh air and sunshine, they have faded away like convicts, until they are but shadows of their former selves. The worst blow is the loss of their sight, for they must feel their way about in the dark cave without being able to detect the approach of larger insects who prey upon them. Caught like a rat in a trap, they cannot rest without taking a chance of being caught. Thus their fate is a more cruel one than that of the prisoner who is in jail for life.

ROPOSAL FOR TRAMS PARLEY TURNED DOWN

ouncil Rejects Suggestion For Yet Another Conference

Refusal of the Shanghai Muni-pal Council to accede to the esire of the tram lines for a con-rence regarding matters now in spute between the Council and e trams is brought out in cor-spondence published in today's ue of the Municipal Gazette.

Under date of September 29, latt & Co., representing the am lines," wrote the Council king that a meeting be arranged the earliest possible date to scuss matters relating to the amway service, its conduct and tension.

In reply, the Council voiced the pinion that the matters enumer-ted do not form a subject for rther discussion in conference. was pointed out specifically at as a result of prolonged dis-ssions and conference held dur-g 1921 and 1922 certain exten-ons were agreed upon, terms ere arranged and the Council's nction was formally communi-ted to the company.

"The terms being then agreed d the dates of the completion r each extension specified," the ouncil's letter continues, "it ppears to the Council that no ood reason has been shown to ccount for the present position which it is learned that no ngle extension has been carried ut, nor has any contract been laced."

It is suggested that the com-any confer with the Council's gal representatives and draw up legal instrument satisfactory o both parties, "failing which he Council will not enter into any ormal agreement at all, but will ely upon the correspondence as vidence of the intention of the arties."

With regard to the suggested in-reases in fares, the Council eaffirms its stand to postpone ny decision until three months ave elapsed.

The Council, the letter con-ludes, still maintains its position f being reasonable on the matter f overcrowding of trams, provid-d the Company makes a bona ide attempt to carry out the re-ulations.

"It is not by any means evident hat the company accepts the ituation," the letter continues Indeed, the contrary might be rgued since, having at first con-ended that the Council had no ower to make regulations binding pon the company, and having een convinced to the contrary as result of proceedings in court, he company has appealed from he judgment on the ground that he regulation is unreasonable."

The Council takes the stand hat it wishes the question of ppeal to be disposed of, and hereafter if the company wishes o make any proposals in matters f detail, which are considered easonable having for object the revention of overcrowding, they will be taken under consideration

Peking Papers Condemn Dr. Koo For Giving In

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 17.—The vernacular papers are strongly criticising Dr. Wellington Koo for yielding to the Lincheng demands. Dr. Koo has resigned but his resignation has not yet been accepted. It is stated in Chinese circles that the Powers are dissatisfied because the Government in the mandate dismissing General Tien Chung-yu gave him the highest military title.

600-Mile Dash For Wedding License

Mr. & Mrs. G.U. Harris nee

MISS Lucy Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wilbur Baldwin, of New York, has been married in St. Margaret's, Westminster, London, to George U. Harris, a New York City stock-broker. A 600-mile dash against time to Scotland, for a special license from the Archbishop of Canterbury, was made by special courier to enable the Americans to be married. The young couple is shown leaving the church. The bride's father is President of the Empire Trust Co., of New York.

Ichang Is Nervous As Deserters From Army Prowl Through City

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Ichang, Oct. 10.—Some nervousness is being shown by both the authorities and the people as a result of an incident arising from the desertion of a party of soldiers a fortnight ago. The streets are being cleared at about ten o'clock at night, and the residents are requested to have their houses closed about this hour and to have a lamp hung at every door. The first sign of trouble was the firing of several shots at about eleven o'clock at night.

At first it was feared that this was the usual signal for the commencement of looting, but, if this was the case, some of the soldiers refused to join in, and it is not thought that more than 60 were implicated. They deserted, taking their rifles and munitions with them. A company of loyal soldiers was despatched in pursuit. The deserters were hemmed in and took refuge in a temple about 100 li inland. As far as is known, they were all allowed to depart after having been relieved of their arms.

ISSUE PROCLAMATION

A proclamation has been issued by the magistrate stating that officials are responsible for the safety of life and property of foreigners and that they will do all they can to protect them when travelling. This is evidently the result of the representations being made to the Waichiaopu by the Ministers concerning the Lincheng outrage and the continued brigandage in most of the provinces.

The party of engineers of the Yangtsze River Conservancy Board, who are investigating the course of the river, arrived at Ichang on October 6 by the Tungting, and transferred to the Loongmow, which had waited for them. She left the following morning and returned yesterday evening. The party was able to proceed back to Hankow by the same steamer that brought them up. The Loongmow had only gone as far as Wanhsien as conditions further up the river were apparently considered so bad that she could not proceed.

BATTLE AT CHUNGKING

The latest news from Chungking, brought back by steamers, indicates that fighting is continuing in and around Chungking and is severe. The city has been closely invested for some time, with the troops of Generals Yang Sen and Liu Hsiang inside and their enemies attacking them from every side. General Chou Hsi-cheng's troops have again arrived opposite the city and have driven the other troops across the river into Chungking.

Conditions are so bad that steamers are being detained here as there is not much chance of discharging cargo owing to the heavy fighting. Some steamers have been fired on near Chungking, but not much damage has been done. For the last week or two, it is reported, steamers have been able to discharge their upward cargo but have not been able to secure a single package of downward cargo. All of them have come empty to Wanhsien where they picked up what they could.

This is occurring at an unfortunate time as it will not be long before the large steamers will have to cease running and the godowns here are filled with cotton yarn for Chungking. Freights have been very good recently, and the charge for cotton yarn has advanced to Tls. 16 per bale.

Only A Nightmare, But It Might Come True Yet

lace. There was everything in the weird collection that drove up and dumped itself before our defenceless door that you have ever read about in the joke columns: the crocheted bathtub, the rubber looking glass, the pink satin dressing table and a few others too awful to mention.

When they tried to bring in a refrigerator built on lines that would accommodate a couple of head of dressed beef without crowding, and a piano that had moving picture attachment, fortunately, I woke up.

What I want to know now is, do dreams really "go by opposites" or are they presages of reality? If the former is the case we'll probably get a collection of pieces that will be as easy on the eyes as a group of Follies girls and as comfortable as an old shoe. If dreams come true we'll probably leave the mess flat on its back, going from hence to whence, not to say whither, with an incredible speed.

This shopping from picture books, whether for clothes or furniture, is one of the things that make you old in China. It isn't the initial cost but the outcome.

CLAIM AGAINST TRAM COMPANY IS CONCLUDED

Russian Asks Tls. 3,000 For Electric Shock

At the conclusion of the testimony in the case in the British Supreme Court yesterday in which E. P. Romanoff of 14 East Seward Road is suing the Shanghai Electric Construction Company for Tls. 3,000 for injuries alleged to have been received by an electric shock while riding on a tram Sir Skinner Turner reserved judgment.

Mr. Lipson Ward for the defendants admitted that the plaintiff had been touched by an electric spark as specified but denied that he had received injuries from it that incapacitated him in any way. The defendants denied that he was suffering from traumatic neurosis on June 11, when he was examined by Dr. Cumming.

The conductor on the tram was called and testified that the plaintiff had made no outcry when he was supposedly shocked and that all he did was to show him his coat which was slightly burned.

Dr. Lovatt Cumming then gave medical evidence and said that Romanoff was not suffering from traumatic neurosis on June 11 when he was examined by Dr. Cumming, but seemed a healthy, normal man.

Both counsels asked Sir Skinner Turner to bear with them and Sir Skinner reserved judgment.

Engineer's Work Forced To Stop

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, Oct. 13.—Mr. F. Palmer, Mr. Yang Pao-lin and the party of the Yangtze River Commission engineers have returned to port from Wanhsien. They set out to reach Chungking on a surveying and inspection trip of the Yangtze Gorges, but were turned back at Wanhsien where continued disturbances did not warrant a further trip up into the center of chaos in Szechuen.

The party were entertained at dinner by Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan at his yamen today. General Hsiao is very much interested in the work now being carried on by the Commission.

Flour And Wheat

The Chinese variety of wheat, as is well known, is of very poor quality for milling, producing only about 80 percent flour. This is the reason why Shanghai and around Tientsin welcome the opportunity of purchasing American wheat at prices almost equal to or slightly higher than the Chinese variety.

DAMAGE IN JAPAN

The exact nature of the damage done to the mills in Japan by the earthquake is not known, but unconfirmed reports state that of the 21 mills of 11,000 barrel capacity in Tokio, Yokohama and the surrounding district of about 80 miles, which was affected by the earthquake and fire, three mills with 3,800 barrels capacity in Tokio proper were destroyed. At the time of the disaster there were 37 mills in operation in Japan with aggregate capacities of 40,750 barrels per day and six under construction with aggregate daily capacities of 15,700 barrels, some of which were damaged.

A good demand for flour exists in Japan and inquiries have been going to the northwest coast of America, but few Pacific Coast mills are in a position to book as they are sold ahead on Chinese orders for the next three months, and nearby ocean space is unobtainable. About [illegible] million bushels of wheat had previously been sold and some of the space engaged for this shipment might be substituted for flour shipments. What will be done with the large quantities of American wheat purchased by the Japanese flour mills remains to be seen. There are rumors of cancellations pending owing to the impaired milling facilities in Japan.

Obituary

FRANK R. McGRATH

Succumbing suddenly following an operation for appendicitis, Frank Robert McGrath of the China Java Export Company, who was widely known in the American community here died at Shanghai General Hospital yesterday afternoon shortly before 3 o'clock.

Funeral services will be held today, with a solemn requiem mass at St. Joseph's Church at 8 a.m. and interment at Bubbling Well Cemetery at 5 p.m. The Rev. Fathers MacDonald and Jacquinet will officiate.

Mr. McGrath was born at Salem, Mass., and would have been 26 years old on November 27. He was a graduate of Salem High School and St. Anselm's College at Manchester, N. H.

During the World War, Mr. McGrath was in England, where he had charge of a large tannery engaged in the manufacture of leather for the British army. Later, he joined his brother and father at Bangkok, where they installed the first modern tannery in the Orient. He was later associated with the firm of W. G. Humphreys and Co. at Hongkong, for whom he made a buying trip around the world.

Mr. McGrath had been connected with the China Java Export Company for more than a year, and had been in charge of the office during the absence of Mr. J. Dolan in America.

During his residence in Shanghai, Mr. McGrath was widely known as a sportsman. He took an active interest in the Shanghai Amateur Baseball Club, serving as referee at many of its contests, and recently had officiated in a similar capacity at many of the boxing bouts held in the Stadium.

He was taken ill suddenly Tuesday morning and removed to the hospital at noon. Physicians who were called into consultation decided on an operation, which was performed at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. He died five hours later without regaining consciousness.

Mr. McGrath is survived by his widowed mother, Mrs. F. A. McGrath, who had been visiting him here for some time past but was to have returned to America on the Steamer President Wilson tomorrow; a sister, Mrs. K. M. Fetterly, of Hongkong, who likewise had been visiting him here; and three brothers, Mr. Edmund McGrath, now of San Francisco but formerly associated with his brother and father here; Mr. William McGrath, also of California, and Mr. John McGrath, of Salem, Mass.

Post Office Issues Handsome Series Of Constitution Stamps

A very handsome set of stamps is that brought out by the Chinese Post Office in commemoration of the signing of the permanent constitution, samples of which have kindly been sent us by the Postal Commissioner.

The stamps are of one, three, four and ten-cent denomination in shades of yellow, green, red and blue respectively, and most attractively engraved. The central design is a reproduction of the Temple of Heaven at Peking, set in a composite frame consisting of a wreath and a pair of Ionic columns. The stamps are larger than the ordinary size and are in all respects a most attractive piece of work.

A limited number of sets will be placed on sale at the Peking Road Post Office as from yesterday.

CHADWICK TO MEET SMITH OR TINGLE

Fighting British Sailor Returns From Wei Hai Wei

MATCH FRIDAY

Stadium Plans Good Card For Boxing Devotees

Chadwick the fighting sailor has arrived in town prepared to fight either Captain Matty Smith, or Billy Tingle. Chadwick says it is immaterial to him which one of those two men he is called upon to meet.

Matty Smith claims the prior right as he "saw Chadwick first," but Billy argues that he is nearer Chadwick's weight the question will be settled shortly. Chadwick has been in training all summer at Weihaiwei, as he has been looking forward to meeting Smith again, this time in a twenty round contest while Smith, knowing Chadwick would return to Shanghai, has been in constant training at the Customs Quarters. Tingle is in good shape, his last contest not proving a particularly hard one for him.

A new arrival in Shanghai is Ed Johnson, a heavy from El Paso, Texas, who seeks a match with Knute Hansen, Ed is six feet one and tips the beam at 190 lbs.

Peg O' My Heart

An artistic and convincing presentation of Peg O' My Heart was made by the Forbes Russell Comedy Company with Miss Aqua Lewis in the title role at the Lyceum Theater, last night, before an audience which was not so large as the excellent work of the company deserved. But it made up with its hearty laughter, prolonged applause and many curtain calls for its lack of numbers. Anyway, the house is sure to be packed tonight when Peg will be repeated and when a play is really well done Shanghai theater goers flock to it.

Miss Lewis made a very pretty Peg and carried the audience with her even to the last curtain call when she turned applause to laughter by almost starting a dog-fight on the stage. And that made them applaud all the more. Miss Enid Sass was quite imperious as Ethel while her brother Alaric as played by Guy Buckley provoked many a laugh. Frederic Burtwell as Jerry did his work in a pleasing manner without over doing it even in the last act—but that last act must be seen to be appreciated, so we won't spoil it for tonight's audience.

The Dog Watch

By Westa

ONE of the golfers who plays at the Racetrack writes in to complain because the members of the newly organised American Troop parade their horses over the greens and park their motorcars in the fairways when they go to the Recreation Ground to drill on Sunday mornings.

"A fortnight ago," he writes, "the Troop paraded on the fifth green and held up everybody on the course. The golfers were peeved, not because they were held up, but because of the violation of the sacred precincts of the green. . . . Last Sunday some of the troopers arrived in motor cars which they parked on the fairway just short of the seventh green, so that golfers had to sacrifice a stroke or two to avoid the risk of hitting the cars. Ponies, too, were parked there, in charge of Russian grooms who knew no more than their masters. . . . There are two motor car ranks at the Race course, one near the Swimming bath and one at the west entrance of the Recreation club, where the cars are in nobody's way. . . . A word to the wise, assuming the troopers are possessed of a sense of sportsmanship, would remove these causes of complaint on the part of the golfers."

THIS correspondent undoubtedly voices the sentiments of a good many of those who play golf at the Recreation Grounds on Sunday morning; particularly so that large army of mashie smashers who haven't yet acquired the art of keeping straight and who, like a hippopotamus taking a bath, require plenty of room. Knowing the habits of these birds one would be inclined to say, off hand, that the troopers were actuated in the selection of their parking space by a sense of fairness to the golfers as well as solicitude for their own property, since a motor car (or anything else) in the middle of a Recreation Ground fairway constitutes the minimum of obstruction and at the same time enjoys the maximum of safety.

THAT explanation does not relieve the troopers of the odium contained in the other charge: that of galloping their ponies over the putting greens. That is, indeed, an unsportsmanlike thing to do and should not be permitted by the Troop officers. As a matter of fact one of the officers of the Troop explained last night, when I asked him about it, that the troopers fully understood the importance of keeping off the greens; that they had been specially warned to guard against invasion of those "sacred precincts," and that they tried at all times to avoid inconveniencing the golfers.

THIS troop officer went on to say that the horsemen had several bones to pick with the golfers, adding that the divot diggers had better move out of their glass houses before indulging in stone throwing.

Amplifying, he said the golfers seemed to proceed on the theory that the troopers had no rights whatever on the Recreation Ground, and that golf balls were whizzing all around them during their drills.

"Why don't you fellows keep off to one side?" I asked him.

"One side your foot!" he retorted. "The further you get out of the way the more danger you are in! Those hookers and slicers would get you if you were behind a barn!"

Speaking further of "rights" this officer explained that the Troop had the written permission of the Recreation Ground Trustees to use the Polo Field from 9 to 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and that accordingly they had just as much right to be there as the golfers. He went on to say, however, that the troopers had no desire to interrupt the golfers and concluded by promising to again warn his mates to keep off the greens, at the same time expressing the hope that the brassie busters would be a bit more careful about letting fly with their golf balls, particularly at close range.

SOONER or later the Recreation Ground trustees will have to recognise the fact that with the growing congestion of the big playground some sort of direct supervision is necessary. Numerous evils have developed in connection with the uses to which the Grounds are put that positively cry for correction.

On Sunday morning, when the troopers are drilling, there should be policemen on hand to see, for one thing, that the horses are kept away from the putting greens, and for another, that the golfers are not permitted to fire point blank into the horsemen. Motor cars should be parked in their proper places and amahs with little tots in their care should not be allowed to meander all over the lot when ponies are galloping hither and thither and golf balls are flying through the air like bullets.

Greatest of all evils, perhaps, is the fact that raw golfing beginners—men, women and children who never before had a golf club in their hands, are allowed to tee off on Sunday morning while experienced players whose one chance for a game during the whole week comes on that day must wait while these tyros in their high heeled shoes piddle around the course, gumming the whole works.

In other cities beginners are not allowed on the public courses during the busy hours until they have gained sufficient proficiency to hold their place in the procession; a proficiency that must be indicated by three attested scorecards showing their ability to play the course in a fixed minimum of strokes.

That rule will eventually be applied here and the trustees are only adding to the total of Sabbath blasphemy by delaying its promulgation.

President Of Czechs Given Great Welcome On Visit To France

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 16.—President Masaryk arrived this morning in Paris. He was welcomed at the Gare du Bois de le Boulogne, which was decorated with the Czecho-Slovak / and | French colours, by M. Millerand, the President of the Chamber, the Premier and the Members of the Government. M. Masaryk proceeded to the Quai d'Orsay where he will occupy the royal apartments.

Early in the afternoon the Czecho-Slovak President laid a palm on the tomb of the unknown French soldier. He was received before the Arc de Triomphe by Marshal Foch and the Governor of Paris, General Gouraud. He afterwards went to the Elysee Palace, whence the two Presidents proceeded to the Hotel de Ville for a reception by the Paris Municipality.

In the Salon of Letters, Arts, and Sciences, the President of the Municipal council, M. Lalou, welcomed M. Masaryk on behalf of the Parisian population. He declared that Paris, a city of labour and centre of intellectual life, saluted in the person of the Czecho-Slovak President, the courageous and clear-sighted statesman, to whom his compatriots owed their independence, and the philosopher and sociologist whose labours had prepared for them the ways which had made them worthy of it. M. Julliard, the Prefect of the Seine, declared: "Paris and the whole of France will never forget that in the days of mourning Czecho-Slovakia felt all our griefs and was able to give to her courageous protest against violated right in Alsace-Lorraine a vibrating tone of sympathy which sealed forever the union of our hearts."

In his reply, President Masaryk said: "One of your great writers called Paris the City of the Universe. I know that perhaps your adversaries will be pleased to hear the impression which Paris made on me when I saw it for the first time. Behold Paris I said to myself, the heir and successor of Rome, and at every visit there came back to me this same image of the city, of its squares, of its architecture, of its inhabitants and of its institutions. I noted the historic continuity of your evolution and the importance of the fact that contrary to ourselves France has always preserved liberty and independence. Perhaps it is precisely for this reason, that not only we, but all the Slavs raise their eyes to Paris with love and respect."

After having signed the Golden Book of the Hotel de Ville, the President received the great Gold Medal of the City of Paris.

M. Masaryk is present at a dinner at the Elysee tonight.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 17.—Cordial speeches were exchanged last night at a dinner given by President Millerand in honor of M. Masaryk the President of Czecho-Slovakia, who is visiting Paris and then London.

President Masaryk declared that France could rely on Czecho-Slovakia in evil days as well as in good and agreed with M. Poincare that reparations and other treaty obligations must be completely fulfilled.

A brilliant reception followed.

LABOR MINISTER DENIES FAILURE TO AID JOBLESS

Sir Montague Barlow Points To Great Funds Voted For Unemployed

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 16.—Sir Montague Barlow, the Minister of Labor, speaking at a luncheon in London today, repudiated the charge that the Government had broken faith as regards unemployment relief. On the contrary, the new expenditure initiated by the Government comprised £14,000,000 for construction of roads and bridges, with an additional £10,000,000 to assist local authorities in relief works, another £12,000,000 for trade development and £10,000,000 for the reconstruction programs of railway companies. It was impossible greatly to extend the housing policy until the acute shortage of skilled men in the building trade had been eased.

The Government expected much help from the Imperial Economic Conference in redistribution of man-power and in strengthening the organization of markets.

Sir Montague stated that he was delighted that Mr. Bruce, the Australian Prime Minister, supported the idea of group settlement in the Dominions, which was one of the most hopeful lines of progress.

EXPERIENCES OF A LADY TYPIST IN PARIS.

At her home No. 47 Rue Fontaine, Paris, Miss Emilienne Reverdi, a young lady who earns her living as a typist recently made the following statement:

"It gives me much pleasure to tell you about the good which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done me. As a result of overwork I became extremely weak. I had pains in the back, I slept badly, my appetite—which formerly had been excellent—disappeared, and to carry on my daily office duties became an exceedingly arduous task.

"When I was in great distress over my enfeebled health a trusted friend counselled me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Now I congratulate myself on having taken this advice, for today all is well—I am able to say that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me."

In France, as in most other civilised countries throughout the world Dr. Williams' Pink Pills hold a pre-eminent place in public confidence for their unique merit as a blood builder and nerve tonic. By rapidly purifying and enriching the blood and thus revitalizing the whole system they give renewed strength to the digestion, drive out the blood poisons which cause rheumatism, neuralgia, also eczema and similar skin troubles, banish the backaches, headaches and other derangements of health which especially afflict women from maidenhood to the change of life.

Dealers everywhere sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, or post free at $1.50 per bottle, $8 for 6 bottles from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

HALT WAR FOR DELEGATES TO Y. W. C. A. MEET

Changsha Party Comes On Military Train

The delegates to the first national Convention of the Young Women's Christian Association will leave Shanghai at noon today, in special cars attached to the regular train. About one hundred and twenty-five women are expected to go down to Hangchow at this time. Some of the delegations are delayed in arriving, due to the uncertainty of boat schedules. Foochow's delegation has not been heard from, and it is not known when they will arrive.

The Changsha delegation arrived only by great good fortune. They came down by military train, travelling fourth class in a train filled with soldiers in order to get here, and left on three hours' notice from the military authorities, who arranged to bring them on the only train to come through during a truce of two days. They do not know when they can return through the war-ridden province of Hunan. With the Changsha delegation is Fifth Madame Tso, member of a large family well-known in Changsha whose friendliness to the Y. W. C. A. has done much to make their work in that city possible. Fifth Madame Tso lived in Shanghai with her husband for some years, and is well-known to the Chinese here.

A cable received yesterday at the national headquarters announced that Michi Kawai, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. of Japan, will arrive by the Omi Maru on Monday, to represent the Japanese Association at the convention. Miss Kawai is well known to Association people all over the world, and she will be an especially welcome guest at this convention. The earthquake in Tokio completely destroyed the national headquarters there and made a serious break in the work in Japan, and the journey of the general secretary to China for this convention at this time indicates the strong friendship that exists between the women of Japan and of China through the Young Women's Christian Association.

Mrs. Katherine Willard Eddy, hostess in Tokio for international friendship, is in Shanghai and is stopping at the Hostess House, 18 Yuen Ming Yuen Road. She will represent the National Board of Y. W. C. A. of U. S. A. at convention.

Explosion Perils Hupeh Militarist

(Eastern News Agency)

Hankow, Oct. 17.—When, this morning at 8 o'clock, General Ma Chi, Chief of Staff of the Defence Headquarters at Yochow of Hupeh and Hunan Provinces, was on his way to the station at Wuchang, gunpowder suddenly exploded with the consequence that six soldiers who were escorting General Ma Chi were wounded. Although General Ma himself escaped the danger, it appears that this incident is connected with some political affairs.

Enquiries are now being made into the cause of the incident.

"The perfection of art can only be attained by first perfecting the instruments therefor."—Sayings of Confucius.

EXTRACT FROM EXPERT REPORT:

"Having visited most of the cement factories of Great Britain, America and Europe, I am in a position to form an opinion of the relative merits and faults of each.....but my experiences lead me to the conclusion that 'pride of place' must unquestionably be given to the Holderbank Factory in Switzerland .....In design and construction it is a model without rival in any country." W. H. Brown, A. M. I. Mech. E., leading authority in England on cement manufacturing.

The Wisdom of the ancient Sage and the technical experiences of a modern authority on cement manufacturing have guided us to instal a set of machinery in our Lungwha Works which is an exact model of the one used by the Holderbank factory, Switzerland, and supplied by the original patentees with numerous latest improvements. The cement we are now supplying our customers is the product of that "perfect instrument."

Terrible Wound from Abdomen to Hip

Our portrait is of Mrs. M. MACE, of 97, Brettell Lane, Stourbridge, England, who writes:

"For 8 years I suffered with a terrible wound stretching from the abdomen to the right hip; during that time I tried doctors' and patent medicines innumerable, but without success. At length I was persuaded to try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and after taking the first bottle began to see an improvement, which has continued, with the result that my wound is healed, and I now have no pain." In a further recent letter Mrs. Mace writes: "I am happy to say that there has been no recurrence of my complaint and consider my case a very satisfactory cure."

Craving American Recognition

RUSSIA'S best bet is the United States, according to press reports from Moscow, which indicate that despite the prospects of recognition by Britain, and even by France, that have loomed up in the close approach of trade relations between Russia and the Entente countries at various times in recent years, Soviet authorities feel there is no hope for them on either side of the Channel and that their most prudent course is to steer straight across the Atlantic. Great consideration is being shown, we are told, to distinguished American visitors in Russia, such as certain United States Senators, among whom are mentioned Mr. King of Utah and Mr. Ladd of North Dakota. At the same time pro-Bolshevik organs outside of Russia show anything but a courteous tone toward the American State Department, especially since Secretary Hughes wrote his letter to Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, in which he said that while the friendship of the American people for the Russian people is beyond question, American recognition could not come as long as it might retard "the gradual reassertion of the Russian people of their right to live in freedom."

Anti-Bolshevik Russian writers note as significant the fact that official organs in Moscow took very little note of the letter of Mr. Hughes and did not reproduce it in their columns; but some Soviet organs in Germany and in the United States are furious with the Republican Administration, claiming that it is not following American tradition with regard to revolutionary governments, and that it "lacks the sympathy of the mass of the people." To some neutral observers there seems a contradiction between pro-Bolshevik Russian attacks on America outside Russia and the tenderness shown Uncle Sam within its boundaries. At home the Soviet Government is working so hard to carry favor with the United States, reports a Warsaw correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, that they prepared a spectacle of prosperity and content for the benefit of Senators King and Ladd which vies with the best productions of Russian stage art. According to this American informant—

"More than 15,000 trusted Bolshevist agents are mobilised for the purpose, the Tribune's information—from a most reliable semi-official source—asserts. These men are disguised as workmen and peasants, and surround the Senators constantly to hinder their coming into contact with official ordinary citizen delegates of Russia. Elaborate preparation have been made in all cities visited by the delegates in order to create the impression of prosperity and satisfaction.

"Russia has lost hope that Great Britain, or even France, despite the French Senators' recent friendly conferences with Soviet commissars, will give Russia the needed credits. Therefore, every effort is being made to influence the United States. The Soviet leaders believe a favorable opinion by Senators Ladd and King will be a decisive factor in the matter.

This Warsaw correspondent goes on to remind us that the Soviet tactics of creating a good impression are nothing new in Russia's history, and he points out that—

"Catherine the Great preceded Senators Ladd and King along the road of Russian dupes when she expresst a desire to see her new conquest in Southern Russia. Prince Potemkin, her Premier, who had misappropriated all the funds Catherine gave him for the development of Southern Russia, took the Empress on a long trip through the country, showing her model villages and happy singing populations. While the Empress was resting at chateaus along the road, M. Potemkin had the villages moved so she was surrounded with a vision of prosperity."

It will be remembered that in his letter to Mr. Gompers, Secretary Hughes stated that the Soviet reforms known under the name of the New Economic Policy have not changed the nature of the Soviet regime, that property is still unprotected in Russia, and that the world revolution still remains the ultimate purpose of the Soviet Government. The friendship of the American people toward the Russian people is unquestionable, he wrote, "and there is for this very reason a strong desire that nothing should be done to place the seal of approval on the tyrannical measures that have been adopted in Russia or to take any action which might retard the gradual reassertion of the Russian people of their right to live in freedom." The sentiment of our people, Mr. Hughes writes in conclusion, is "not deemed to be favorable to the acceptance into political fellowship of this regime so long as it denies the essential bases of intercourse and cherishes, as an ultimate and definite aim, the destruction of free institutions which we have laboriously built up, containing as they do the necessary assurances of the freedom of labor upon which our prosperity most depends."

Why Do the Old Wear Stillness in Their Eyes?

Why do the old wear stillness in their eyes,
They who in youth were amorous and gay,
Breathing of life? How come they by these wise
Glances of calm, this dignity today?
Quiet, aloof, almost they scorn the young.
Silence is theirs, but laughter nevermore.
Do they forget their own mad challenge flung
From youth to age in careless days of yore?

Ah, no! Their calm is heaven lit with dreams
Not of their pride they walk thus silently:
Out of the past a faint, far echo seems
Borne unto them—the voice of Memory.
How can they speak, whose ears are strained to hear
Joy long since fled and laughter once held dear?

THE EVENING SCHOOL

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

China is so unfortunate, as every one knows, with an obstacle of financial embarrassment not to develope her education as far as it ought to be in modern time. Some one says "It is one of the greatest causes to make China so poor and weak recently both in inland conditions and occasions." That is true. Because the education is the most important factor of a country and that has already been approved by many prominent men in different countries. So to make China rich and strong as well as others is, first of all, to develope her education as far as every Chinese has an opportunity to get knowledge in school.

Now many Chinese who want to try in every way to make China rich and strong deeply feel right and effective that the education is the real prescription to heal this constant illness of China. Simultaneously the cry of developing education in China is naturally heard throughout the whole country and this motion must be done with a haste. In result of this cry many evening schools without any fee are being established in some great centers although the complete schools as we have can not be.

Ningpoo is one of some great important centers in China and there should be also established such kind of an evening school which the poor laborers who have no opportunity to enter school to study are largely anxious for a long time to hope to become as a matter.

Last month the city "Y" devised to establish a so-called school with their hard effort and the school was begun to carry out their institution on September 19th in the Presbyterian church, the settlement, Ningpo. At first this school is only attended with more than forty persons, for this information was not well known to the public but a few days later the No. of students is suddenly increased with a record of one hundred and thirty. Unfortunately a few of them can not be present every night as they have not finished their duty. These students attending this school every night are all laborers with an exception of a few boys who have no opportunity to study in school every day as we do.

The institution of this evening school for ordinary people is fixed as well as our school in every respect almost. The students will graduate with an honorable certificate in four months if they are good in studying and in this short time they would finish four copies of text books which are newly published and specially prepared for use to those illiterate people in the evening schools. Each book contains two hundred and fifty words and four will be one thousand.

In the beginning two chapters are taken by them but at last only one can be taken as they hope. This combination of words copied on the text books is the most ordinary and practical word with which they may write simple letters or read newspaper in their life.

With an exception of Sunday and Wednesday the school every night begins to do their work in order from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock. Firstly the teacher, Mr. Y. F. Yih, who is the secretary of the social department of the city "Y" calls the roll and then teaches their lessons by using the moving picture with a full plain explanation. After that there will be eight assistant teachers who are the students of the N. S. M. S. to again teach them how to write and how to read if they don't understand through Mr. Yih's teaching by using the moving picture. But this responsibility of assistant teachers is wholly taken by the students of the N. S. M. S. They do their duty with much patience and enthusiasm indeed. Thirty minutes later the teacher, Mr. Yih, ask them to write and to read their lesson by themselves without other help. But if some of them still can not read and write by themselves the assistant teachers would teach them again until they know all of their lessons. Then the work is finished.

Of course, it is absolutely useful and helpful both to China and people. But we are sorry for only one evening school is established in such important port, Ningpo, in which more than one hundred people can be educated. I hope that the another evening schools will be established one by one in Ningpo. I also hope everywhere in China such favorable evening schools will be established. If so, ten years or more China will be advanced very much in every way, I suppose.

N. M. CHEN.
The Ningpo Senior Middle School, Ningpo.

-:- "Two Eagles" -:-

By Larry Lehrbas

David Lloyd George, who, like a lesser Caesar, declined to accept any honors from the British Government, has been decorated with the Indian sign.

Lloyd George, according to Reuter's cables yesterday, tumbled from his plain estate at Minneapolis when he was made an honorary chieftan of the Sioux tribe of American Indians. Chief Brace Eagle decorated him with gaudy Indian war-paint and named him "Two Eagles," after which the little Welshman smoked the pipe of peace, sitting on his haunches with the Indians in a circle around him, even as Longfellow has described it so minutely in 'Hiawatha'.

No scalp-lock was presented him as Chief Brace Eagle understood that he had already taken his just share among the opposition pale-faces.

By the initiation "Two Eagles" has joined the throng of other celebrities, notables and notorieties who have in the past gone through the picturesque ceremony of becoming a member of an American Indian tribe, donning the buckskin pants, chicken-feather head-dress and ornately beaded jacket, and doing a barbaric wardance around the sagebrush bonfire to the rythmic beat of calf-skin tom-toms. Surely they took movies of Lloyd George doing his stuff—otherwise Charlie Chaplin will continue to reign supreme.

FELLOW MEMBERS

Lloyd George's fellow members are a mixed cargo. Jack Dempsey rose to the high estate just before his battle with Tommy Gibbons in Montana when the Blackfeet Indians there decided Jack was 'strong medicine' and would make a valuable addition to their scalpers should the redmen and the palefaces ever mix again. And then there is a rumor anyway that the 'Utah Mauler' comes from stock that was pure Irish when his forebears first landed in the Mormon wilderness but that one of the Dempsey's became a squaw-man.

All Presidents of the United States sooner or later become members of some Indian tribe—Roosevelt belonged to two, and Harding was initiated just before he died. Schuman-Heink, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin, John McCormick, Senator Borah of Idaho, several big league baseball players—all have their own pet tribe of Indians to whom they owe allegiance. And now Lloyd George belongs to the gang.

THE NAME

In chosing the name of "Two Eagles" the Sioux accorded Lloyd George high honor because the eagle that soars over the mountain peaks and high plateaus in the Sioux country is the Indian's idea of It—with a capital 'I'. Two eagles is just twice as good. Lloyd George might well have had some side-splitting moniker annexed to him for the Indians haven't the same sense of humor as the palefaces. On the Bannock Indian reservation Mary Phonograph is a highly thought of school-teacher. Lizzie Sewing Machine was the first Indian girl among the Utes of of Utah—a tribe that has even within the last year battled with posses from the United States Marshal's office in arid Southern Utah—that mastered the mysteries of the sewing machine, and was thereby enabled to add greatly to her income by turning out double the amount of beaded curios for the tenderfoot tourists that jump off and on the little water-tank railway stations en route to the wild and wooly west from the effete east. Spotted Deer, Three Prongs, Little Bear, Chief-Kick-A-Hole-in - the - Sky, Sitting Bull, Jumping Horse—the flavor of the names is limitless. Lloyd George might well have earned himself some other hifalutin' handle.

THE SIOUX

The Sioux received their English name from a French corruption of the Algonquian name "nadowesiwug", meaning "little snakes", and have always been among the most conspicuous of American Indians, being especially wonderful horsemen and delighting in leading a nomad life of the plains in their teepees of cow hides and long willow poles carted hither and thither by the squaws.

Originally their home was in the Alleghany mountains along the east coast but shortly after 1600 French explorers and priests found them chiefly in the states of Minnesota and Wisconsin. In fighting with the French, assisted by the Ojibwa tribe, their hereditary enemies, they were driven to the west and eventually crossed the Missouri river to the plains. Allied with the British because of their hatred of the French the Sioux fought with them against colonials in the War of Independence and again in 1812. At the close of the war—in 1815—a treaty was signed by which the Sioux were granted an immense reservation which included much of what is now Minnesota, and a large area in what are now the states of Iowa, Wyoming, Missouri and Wisconsin.

ON THE WARPATH

For several years the Sioux left the war path, adopted some of the ways of civilization, and enlarged the war-chest of the tribe by first selling all of their land east of the Mississippi river, and then all of their Minnesota property. Negotiations with a bad after-taste led to an uprising of the Sioux at Spirit Lake, Minnesota, in 1857 when a large number of whites were massacred. In 1862 the tribe again went on the war-path and took the scalps of several hundred settlers until they were put down by stern measures. All of the principal chiefs were hanged from the same scaffold and the Sioux in Minnesota were all herded onto reservations in the Dakotas.

The western Sioux became extremely hostile at the government's attitude toward their eastern brethren and began an intermittent warfare against the white settlers which finally culminated in the rise to power of Sitting Bull, the outbreak in 1890 following the Ghost Dance, and the final death of Sitting Bull and three hundred of his followers at Wounded Knee creek, and the final subjection of the Sioux. General Custer was Sitting Bull's and the Sioux' most persistent enemy.

The Sioux are now scattered on several reservations and their numbers have decreased to slightly over 20,000. They are still counted, however, as being among the most courageous, daring and strong of all Indian tribes.

Earthquakes And Tidal Waves

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

"Some time ago 'P.W.!' asked you what caused earthquakes and tidal waves. I was very much interested in your reply. Is it possible for anything else to cause an earthquake or a tidal wave?—R. L. C., Santa Ana, Cal."

I assume that my reply was that earthquakes arise from sudden movements of the rocks in the earth's crust, and that an earthquake often gives rise to a great oceanic wave, commonly described as a "tidal wave," although having no connection with the real tidal waves caused by the differential attraction of the moon, and also of the sun, upon the globe of the earth and its watery envelope.

This reply is substantially correct. The only ambiguity is as to the ultimate cause that sets up the strain by which the sudden movements in the rocks are produced. Many would be content with saying that this is a general result of shrinkage produced by the continued slow cooling of the interior of the earth, accompanied, perhaps, by chemical as wel as physical change.

There has been considerable theorizing on this subject for some years, which while interesting, does not seem to furnish a great deal of new light. A number of new terms have been invented, ingeniously constructed from Greek roots (which appear nowadays to have little other use in the learned world). And these terms only say, in a strange form, exactly what could be plainly said in ordinary English: First, that there is a cause of earthquakes which is deep-seated and unknown. The uncouth word "bathseism" has been coined to reveal and yet conceal this profound discovery.

Second, we are told that the bathyseism, being very deep, produces far-spreading earth-waves, and we are furnished with the new word "teleseism" to use in learned conversation about this commonplace conclusion.

Third, it is affirmed that another result produced by the mysterious bathyseism is a local outbreak in some region of weakness of the crust, which we are asked to speak of as an "engyseism," meaning nothing in the world other than a nearby earthquake!

There is a point of interest in the suggestion mentioned above, that chemical changes going on deep in the rocky shell of the globe may produce strains and breakage in the subterranean rocks on account of the rapidity with which the chemical forces act. But this is only speculative. As to actually acquired knowledge, it cannot be affirmed that we are nearer a fundamental explanation of earthquakes than we were a generation ago. Broadly considered, there has been no mystery about them since their preference for certain regions of the globe was found to be determined by local planes of weakness in the crust beneath. To call the father disturbance which gives birth to both long distance waves and local outbreaks where the conditions are favorable, "bathyseism" (which only means "deep-seated earthquake") is certainly not to throw any new light on the nature or the cause of the phenomenon.

"Tidal waves," excluding those really connected with the tides, may originate from other causes besides earthquakes. Long continued storm winds blowing on a coast sometimes inundate the shore with a wave of this kind. Some of the whelming waves occasionally encountered by ships in mid-ocean may be caused by submarine volcanic outbursts.

It may be added that the latest investigations and speculations indicate that whatever may be the precise nature of the deep-seated disturbances which strain the earth's crust and give rise to earthquakes, very little, if any, effect of that kind is produced by extra-terrestrial forces, such as the attraction of the sun and moon. Earthquakes are homemade.

What Women Wear

Speaking of new lingerie you cannot help speaking of net.

Almost as coarse as curtain net is some that has recently been used, and the effect is most interesting when it is of a pronounced string tone. There are insets of the net, which is often embroidered. Shoulder straps are often made of the doubled net and when ribbon is used it is run through casings of net.

Crepe de chine nightgown trimmed with net. The medallions of net are embroidered with little Dutch figures.

Insets of net in different colors were used on the nightgowns selected for a well-known young woman married in June. Sometimes this colored net was used for yokes and side panels, and on an especially charming nightgown silk rose petals were embroidered on the net with the effect of having been strewn there.

You may wear colored ribbons on white or ecru lingerie if you wish—but some young women who take such matters seriously would very much rather do so, because they have been assured that blue, pink, and mauve ribbons are no longer considered correct. Dove gray ribbons are the smart choice—dove gray or black.

One thing that all seem agreed about is that all lingerie should be very simple. Frills and ruffles and ruchings even may be worn on frocks and more may be worn before the autumn is out, but they have no place on the smart underthings and nightgowns.

There is an angularity and straightness about the placing of trimming or the insetting of sleeves that is to be noticed on almost all of the season's smart lingerie. Fine tucks in the material of which the garment is made or in the netting with which it is trimmed are a favorite selection.

Loop sleeves and the bateau neck are often chosen. This effect is to be seen in the sketch. The nightgown is made of crepe de chine and is trimmed with net and a net medallion embroidered with little Dutch figures.

Among the nightgowns from France many show an indrawing at the waist, sometimes accentuated by belt or sash, and there are even models that fit rather snugly over the hips, the fullness being taken up with groups of tiny tucks.

Figures Of Speech

From the name of Tantalus and from the stories connected with him we have acquired the English word "tantalize," which means, according to Webster, "to tease or torment by presenting some food to the view and exciting desire, but continually frustrating the expectations by keeping that food out of reach."

Tantalus was an ancient wealthy king, says the old legend, who had offended the gods by some terrible sin. As a punishment, when he reached the underworld he was placed in a lake with the waters reaching to his chin and tormented with thirst which he was unable bo allay. As he touched the water with his lips it receded from him. In addition, above his head were suspended branches laden with delicious fruit, and this, likewise, escaped his grasp whenever he reached up his hand to seize it.

'TYRTAEAN SONGS'

A "Tyrtaean Song" is one of a stirring, martial nature that arouses the patriotic feelings of the hearer. The term is applied by writers who are fond of allusions to the classics, to poems as well as to songs. It is derived from the name of Tyrtaeus, a Greek poet who flourished in the seventh century before Christ.

In a history of Greek literature we are told that by his elegies, full of the praises of military glory and patriotism, Tyrtaeus aroused the ardor of the Spartan warriors and rendered them victorious. Of his writings, only three elegies and eight fragments have survived.

Some accounts of the life of Tyrtaeus relate that he was not only a writer of martial songs, but a soldier and a victorious general.

Something To Think About

By Bruno Lessing

READING AND THINKING

"I would like to learn how to think properly. What book would you advise me to read?"

Thus writes a correspondent from St. Louis. It is a curious request. This correspondent—it was a long letter that he wrote—was evidently sincere in his desire to think "properly." Yet why should he look for a book to read?

Thinking "properly" is somewhat of a conundrum. The purpose of thinking is to arrive at truth. Truth is the only thing that counts in the world of knowledge. Whatever method of thinking reaches the desired end, is the proper method. Whether you get to the truth by slow, painstaking steps or by a hop, step and a jump, is all the same. Each human being must think in his own way.

They say that Dr. Koch learned that tuberculosis was caused by a bacillus after years of experiment. And that the idea of lifting weights by means of a lever came suddenly to Archimedes while he was taking his bath. Considering the magnitude of both truths, the method of thinking that led to them was proper.

All methods of thinking are proper.

The gentleman from St. Louis probably has some religious views and some beliefs in politics, in economics and in woman's sphere in life. In these four realms he has enough opportunity for thinking to keep him busy for a lifetime.

To read Kant's Critique of Pure Reason will not help him. To read any book suggested to him out of the thousands of examples of good literature will not help him. All this reading would only give him more subjects to think about.

The beginning of thinking is doubt. If the St. Louis gentleman will begin by taking any of his beliefs and then ask himself why he is so sure of it, he will have begun to think. The moment he examines them he will find that the is somewhat shaky in the foundations upon which these beliefs rest. And then he will seek for facts to bolster up his beliefs.

In the search for facts any library can tell him where and how to find what he is looking for. But, if he ever wants to succeed in thinking, he must give just as much attention to the facts which show him that he is wrong, as to the facts which bolster up his previous beliefs.

Prejudice, beliefs, faith and stubbornness have no place in the realm of thinking.

Books do not teach how to think. They merely supply material to think about. They help store the mind with facts. They do not help the mind to digest those facts.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LEPPA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an effective and speedy remedy."
A. F. FERLER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"For several years I recommended your 'Castoria' and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"I have used your 'Castoria' in my household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARRISH, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a safe and reliable medicine for infants and children, in fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."
J. A. PARKER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

Horticultural Society Preparing For Fall Show

The annual general meeting of the Shanghai Horticultural Society was held much later than usual this year—July 16. The attendance was fair considering the holiday season had already begun, but this opportunity is taken of pointing out that the success of the Horticultural Show, which is one of the most interesting and instructive exhibitions we have in Shanghai, is not entirely dependant on the work of the Committee, but largely on the co-operation of the members themselves; it is therefore very necessary that each member should make a special point of attending the annual meeting which is only held once during the year, usually in March, (due notice of which will be given) in order that with the united efforts of all concerned the Flower Shows may prove attractive to those interested in horticulture.

The accounts for 1922 were passed and a new Committee formed consisting of: President Sir Skinner Turner; Hon. Secretary and Director, Mr. D. McGregor; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. E. J. Cornfoot; Messrs. P. H. Nye, R. W. Wells, E. S. Wilkinson and Way Yu-ding.

The whole management of the Society is in the hands of these gentlemen supplemented by a Sub-Committee of ladies working under their direction, viz: Lady Turner, Mrs. Merriman, Mrs. Nye, Mrs. Skinner, Mrs. Trenchard Davis, Mrs. C. J. Scott and Mrs. E. J. Cornfoot Hon. Sec.

THE AUTUMN SHOW

The prize schedule for the Autumn Show should now be in the hands of all the members and it is earnestly hoped that every one will do their utmost to make the forthcoming show a success. The exact date will be advertised later—it will probably take place about the second week in November, the time therefore left to exhibitors is none too long as Chrysanthemums now need a great deal of care and attention during the short time left before they are exhibited.

There are one or two new classes scheduled, amongst which the Ladies Section should prove very attractive. This class has been specially organised in order to give facilities to the various national women's clubs and associations of competing with each other in the yearly Flower Shows staged by the Horticultural Society.

For the benefit of those who are not members, special leaflets have been printed with all details and can be obtained from the Hon. Secretary (Ladies Committee). Special stress is laid on Condition 1 of this Section, viz "Each Club will apply to the Hon. Secretary, Mr. D. McGregor, 7 clear days before the show for such space as they may require." This regulation has been deemed necessary in order to facilitate the arrangement and grouping of the exhibits in the Hall.

NEW FEATURES

Another open Class, which it is hoped will achieve the success it merits is the "Miniature Garden" exhibit. Prizes will be awarded for the best design of a garden portrayed in shallow boxes not exceeding 2 ft. 6 by 2 ft. 6 first prize $10; second prize $5. A prize will also be given for the best 3 photographs of garden views. To amateur photographers this class (which is also an open one) should give plenty of scope for artistic reproductions. First prize $5; second prize $3.50.

Another new venture this Autumn is the Home Produce Exhibit. A prize of $5 will be awarded for the 2 best samples of preserved vegetables in glass jars or tins. (Vegetables must be home grown). Also a prize of $5 for the best jar of Jam—The fruit for this may be bought—and a prize of $5 for the best jar of jelly. The fruit for this may be bought.

Will any one wishing to compete in these open Classes kindly communicate with the Hon. Secretary (Ladies Committee, 9 Route Francis Garnier. Tel. W. 132.)

DECLARATION CARDS

The special attention of all members is invited to the following clause in the Vegetable Section.

"Instances are known of gardeners supplementing their employers exhibits with market produce." This pernicious practice will speedily be eliminated if members will fill in and sign the declaration cards printed for the purpose: "I hereby guarantee that these vegetables have been grown in my garden, by the gardener in my employ." These cards together with those for exhibits can be obtained from the Hon. Sec., Mr. D. McGregor. No exhibit of vegetables will be accepted unless accompanied by such declaration.

It would be a great convenience to the Ladies Committee if those intending to compete in the open Class 10 (Decorated Dinner Tables) would kindly advise the Hon. Sec. not later than 3 days before the Show, if possible earlier, in order that the correct number of tables may be ready in the Hall. No table will be provided on the day of the Show unless previously booked by the competitor.

It will probably have been noticed that the Autumn Schedule does not contain the usual list of subscribers, this list needed so much revising that with the short time at the disposal of the Committee it was not possible to include it, it will however appear in the Spring issue. It is hoped to increase the membership very considerably this year—for the benefit of the general public; the annual subscription is $5, which entitles a member to be present to vote at all Exhibitions held by the Society free of charge. The subscription is payable on the 1st day of April in each year or on joining; only those whose annual subscriptions are paid will be allowed to compete.

Should there be anyone wishing to join before the November Show, all information required can be obtained from the Hon. Treasurer, 43 Kiangse Road, Tel. Central 810.
